32nd E. T. Bell
Fall Pathology Symposium

November 2, 2007
Mayo Memorial Auditorium
University of Minnesota East Bank Campus
Minneapolis, Minnesota

Presented by
E. T. Bell Institute of Pathology
Department of Laboratory Medicine and Pathology

University of Minnesota
Medical School
Dear Colleague,

Continuing the fine tradition of this meeting, now in its fourth decade of life, this 32nd E.T. Bell Fall Pathology Symposium is designed to provide a practical, yet comprehensive review of topics relevant to the daily practice of Surgical Pathology. This year we take advantage of local talent to review diseases of the nervous system and liver. Distinguished, nationally and internationally recognized leaders will share their expertise and give updates on advances that have taken place in recent years.

Dr. Dale Snover will present "Liver Biopsy in the Evaluation of Medication Reactions in the Liver." Dr. Kenneth Batts will discuss “Chronic Hepatitis - Making Sense out of Blue Portal Tracts” and “Hereditary Hemochromatosis and Wilson’s Disease - a Practical Guide.” Dr. Karen SantaCruz will discuss "The role of the Pathology Laboratory in the Diagnosis of Dementia." Dr. Brent Clark will address "The Neuropathological Examination of Cerebral Vascular Disease" and Dr. Bernd Scheithauer will review “The Spectrum of Benign and Malignant Nerve Sheath Tumors” and “The Pituitary: What Surgical Pathologists Should Know.” We look forward to seeing you at this symposium of (almost) “everything you always wanted to know” in neuropathology and pathology of the liver; you will find it intellectually stimulating and useful in your practice.

Please note: this year’s symposium will take place at the renovated Mayo Auditorium in the Academic Health Center. As is customary, the Bell Symposium will be followed on Saturday by the Fall Seminar of the Minnesota Society of Pathologists and will be presented by Drs. Batts and Scheithauer. I hope you join us for both events.

Sincerely,
J. Carlos Manivel, MD.
Professor
Department of Laboratory Medicine and Pathology

STATEMENT OF NEED
The E.T. Bell Fall Pathology Symposium will present recent advances in the fields of liver pathology and neuropathology, such as new observations in the pathology of dementias, recently described tumors of the nervous system, increased understanding of pathologic processes in both the nervous system and liver and newly developed therapies for diseases of the liver.

AUDIENCE
This conference would be ideal for anatomic and clinical pathologists, neuropathologists, hepatologists, gastroenterologists and GI surgeons.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES
Following this conference, participants should be able to:
• Discuss newly recognized infectious, neoplastic and degenerative diseases of the nervous system and the liver
• Recognize the morphologic gross and microscopic features that characterize those diseases
• Identify which ancillary diagnostic tests may be performed to assist in the differential diagnosis of these conditions
• Explain the nosologic position of these entities
• Discuss the clinical significance of these diseases
• Analyze the prognostic and therapeutic implications of these diagnoses
ACCREDITATION
American Medical Association / PRA

The University of Minnesota is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The University of Minnesota designates this educational activity for a maximum of 7 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

A Statement of Attendance will be provided to other health care professionals for requesting CEUs in accordance with state nursing boards, specialty societies, or other professional associations. However, the participant is responsible for determining whether this activity meets the requirements for acceptable continuing education.

DISCLOSURE POLICY

It is the policy of the University of Minnesota Office of Continuing Medical Education to ensure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all of its sponsored educational activities. All participating faculty, course directors, and planning committee members are required to disclose to the program audience any financial relationships related to the subject matter of this program. Disclosure information is reviewed in advance in order to manage and resolve any possible conflicts of interest. Specific disclosure information for each course faculty will be shared with the audience prior to the faculty’s presentation.
